

Global Sustain announces Sustainability Forum 2015

October 2, 2015

Global Sustain is pleased to announce the Sustainability Forum 2015, a training, networking and professional development event that is scheduled to take place on October 2, 2015, at the OTE Academy premises, in Athens, Greece.

Global Sustain unique climate neutral event for fourth year in a row, features prominent international speakers from high-profile organisations (GRI, Principles for Responsible Investing, Cambridge University, Berlin University, Unilever, AHC Group, LNE Group, British Telecom, Municipal Waste Europe, etc.) that will share their hands-on expertise and experience with the delegates, through specialised workshops and plenary sessions.

This year's Forum focuses on:

- Global sustainability megatrends and business innovation.
- The Unilever Sustainable Living Plan.
- An overview of CSR and Sustainability.
- Circular Economy and Waste Management.
- How GRI is empowering sustainable decisions. An update on G4 and the GRI Corporate Leadership Groups on integrated reporting and Reporting 2025.
- Sustainable Production and Consumption.
- Delivering Social and Business Value by connecting society and business.
- How to finance corporate sustainability projects through Horizon 2020 and other EU Grants. Reference on case studies.
- New World Companies: ESG Measures in Stock Values and Trends.
- Energy Efficiency Directive and ISO50001.

- Responsible Investment, Investor Engagement and Corporate Governance.
- Sustainable success by optimising the corporate health management.

Sustainability Forum 2015 brings together high-level professionals from a wide range of functions actively engaged in key roles such as: sustainability and CSR professionals, HR managers, marketing managers, PR specialists, communication experts, environmental engineers, quality assurance specialists, IT engineers, legal advisors, investors, NGO staff, students, etc.
